In today's difficult climate, marked by economic crises and a reduction in the resources of local governments, we are forced to imagine new development alternatives for our territories, characterised by solidarity and sustainability. With this aim in mind, the four main topics of the Congress programme will be under debate during thematic roundtables that will take place on 3rd October and will also be addressed prior to the event openly through social networks. The questions that will be addressed during the roundtables that are equally open to the public include: fostering wellbeing, strengthening solidarity among territories, supporting new local governance and promoting diversity.
